General Li May Agree to a Peaceful Compromise.

Pessimistic Despatches Succeeded by More Cheerful Note.

PEKIN, Nov. 11, 6:40 p. m.—The throne and government alternated between hope and despair today. This morning a telegram was received from Yuan Shi Kai, in which he stated that he was unable to come to Pekin and expressed a pessimistic view of the situation. A second message, coming several hours later, struck a more cheerful note.

The despatches were directed to the foreign board and in the first Yuan Shi Kai said: "The outlook is decidedly gloomy. I do not expect to be able to effect the desired pacification. Moreover, my health is so feeble that I am unable to come to Pekin and assume the post of premier."

Gloom settled down over the official family when this was read, for they had in mind yesterday's announcement of the Chinese papers that Yuan Shi Kai had been invited by General Li Yuen Heng, the leader of the revolutionists, to become president of the republic of China, pending the assembling of a parliament. It seemed as though the last prop of the throne had given way, for the expectation that General Chang Shao Tsen, who as the real commander of the Twentieth division of the imperial troops holds the key to the situation in the north, might come to Pekin and renew his allegiance to the government rested upon the assumption that he would meet in conference Yuan Shi Kai and Hsi Liang, the former viceroy of Manchuria.

Accordingly a pleasant surprise was caused toward evening, when Yuan's second telegram arrived. This message informed the foreign board that the sender's negotiations with General Li Yuen Heng had taken a turn for the better and General Li had shown signs of becoming less irreconcilable, and possibly would agree to a peaceful compromise in order to avert further bloodshed. Yuan added that Li's colleagues differed on matters of policy, so that trouble might arise among them.

The president of the foreign board rushed off to the quarters of Prince Ching, the acting premier, with the latest despatch and Ching lost no time in conveying the tidings to the throne.

AMOY THROWN INTO PANIC.

Radicals Expected to Surrender City to the Revolutionists.

AMOY, China, Nov. 11.—Attacks by robber bands in different parts threw the city into a panic early today. The authorities, self-constituted, dealt with the situation as best they could. The water patrol captured a piratical junk, and its crew of 16 men await decapitation. The inland junk traffic proceeded more freely today, but coast navigation has been wholly suspended.

Taotai Chang assumed office today. A conference of officials with representatives of the Conservative and Radical elements was held to determine a course of action. The Radicals favored surrendering the city to the revolutionists, and this policy probably will prevail.

Chang Chow, a city with a population estimated as high as 1,000,000, situated 24 miles west by north of Amoy, reports the rebels announce that the city will be occupied November 20. The people are fleeing from the place, fearing a repetition of the experiences of the Taiping rebellion. Foreigners are in no danger.

Reports from Foo Chow state that the fighting there ceased last evening, when the Manchus surrendered. The viceroy is dead and the tartar general is severely wounded.

FOO CHOW IN DISORDER.

Manchus Gathered at the Palace and Robbers Are Looting.

FOO CHOW, Nov. 11.—The Manchus who were defeated yesterday have concentrated at the government's palace. Robbers are burning and looting. The whole city is in disorder.

IMPERIALISTS IN CONTROL.

Loyal Forces Gain the Upper Hand in Nankin.

NANKIN, Nov. 11.—The Imperialists have regained the upper hand in Nankin and the dragon flag again floats over Kieng Yin fort. During the night the Imperial gunboats shelled the revolutionary camp, and this morning troops making a sortie found the rebel position three miles outside the south gate had been evacuated.

The success of the loyal forces is attributed in part to the discouragement of the rebels over their failure to receive new supplies of ammunition and partly to the fear inspired by the wholesale slaughter of Chinese by the Manchus yesterday.

Butchery, fire and rapine went on unchecked in Nankin yesterday. The Manchu soldiery evidently were under orders to kill on sight every man, woman or child who bore the white emblem of the revolution. An army of between 20,000 and 30,000 revolutionists on the outskirts of the city was powerless to offer any check to the hideous performance because of the non-arrival of ammunition which is on the way.

The revolutionists had delayed a second concerted attack upon the Manchus pending the arrival of ammunition from Shanghai. The Manchus took advantage of the situation. The main body of the reformers remained in camp three miles from the city, awaiting the arrival of ammunition, which is coming on boats on the river and being brought across country on pack horses. Re-inforcements are also coming from every direction. They are raw and ragged recruits, but determined, and the final battle promises to be desperately fought.

STREET SWEEPERS JOIN WALK-OUT.

A General Teamsters' Strike Threatens New York.

One Breaker Killed in the Rioting and Several Others Injured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The most dreaded of all labor troubles, a general teamster strike, threatens New York unless the city speedily settles its differences with the several thousand laborers in the street cleaning department. The strike of the cart men who collect the city's ashes and garbage extended to the street sweepers today, and tonight the department store drivers and others will meet to consider quitting work in sympathy with city employes.

Meanwhile the city already is suffering from a prodigious accumulation of rubbish and garbage. Ordinarily 9,000 cartloads are removed every day. The strike since last Wednesday has permitted rubbish of all kinds to pile up until today. It is not only an inconvenience but a menace to health. In many apartment houses bewildered janitors have dumped their accumulation on the street making some thoroughfares almost impassable with hills of garbage and ashes ten feet high.

The street cleaning department began work today with several hundred strike breakers, but the men were green and under the constant annoyance of the strikers and their friends they made little headway. The men who took the strikers' places were guarded by nearly 6,000 policemen, and every member of the reserve was on duty today in anticipation of more riots. So far these disturbances have cost the life of one strike breaking driver and sent several others to the hospital. The attacks generally come from the housetops, and by the time the police climb up to the places from which missiles come, the throwers have disappeared.

Fierce rioting marked the strike yesterday. In half a dozen instances the clashes between the police and strikers and their sympathizers assumed serious proportions and the rioters dispersed only before revolvers drawn by the police. Numerous cases of attacks upon strike-breakers kept the police busy all day, and at night all the drivers were called into the barns and the efforts to make collections were abandoned. In almost every conflict women took an active part, hurling bricks and stones from the roofs of buildings upon the strike-breakers and police.

The most serious rioting took place in Harlem. An attack there upon strike breakers resulted in the mortal injury of Robert McEllor, a driver. A brick hurled from a roof struck him on the head and he died in the hospital of a fractured skull. Henry Wilson, another strike breaker, received what are believed mortal injuries when attacked by strikers.

The department has commissioned several detective agencies to hire 5,200 strike breakers and the men have been advertised for over a radius of 400 miles from the city, but thus far only a few hundred have been supplied, and many of these quit when they found the dangers they must encounter.

Riots broke out in half a dozen places this morning, when the department sent out a few carts manned by strike breakers. Mobs armed with clubs and brickbats sprang up as soon as a cart made its appearance. Generally the police guards were able to save the drivers from being dragged from their seats, but they could do little against the attacks from the housetops. One patrolman was assigned to each cart and two mounted men to each group of five carts.

At one stable 20 of the 35 drivers who reported for duty today sneaked out the back door before it came time to start, and 10 of the 15 carts that went out were abandoned by their crews, after passing through bombardments. The strikers massed on the housetops about the stables and the police had to clear the roofs before the carts started.

About 50 men who had been engaged as strike breakers in Philadelphia demanded the two days' pay they already had earned, today, and asked to be sent home.

Thus far there has been no suggestion of calling on the National Guard. The city authorities declared that the police are able to suppress all violence.

ITALIAN VICTORIES REPORTED.

A Sanitary System in Progress in Tripoli to Prevent Disease.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Italian victories yesterday, following upon Turkish and Arab attacks on the Italian encampments, were reported to the Italian embassy here today from Tripoli. The despatch indicated that the Italian troops, after repulsing small attacks of Arabs, had carried their pursuit of the attacking parties up to the Turkish entrenchments. An attack of Turks and Arabs, aided by artillery on the left wing of the Italian entrenchment, is reported to have been repulsed early yesterday.

The organization of a sanitary system for Tripoli is reported in progress by the Italian military authorities to protect the city against the spread of disease.

OFFICIAL REBUKE FOR CROWN PRINCE.

Reprimanded by Emperor for Episode in Reichstag.

Heir to Throne's Duty to Take Interest in Politics in Proper Manner.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—A public and semi-official rebuke has been administered to Crown Prince Frederick William through an inspired telegram from Berlin published in the Cologne

CROWN PRINCE FREDERICK WILLIAM.

Gazette today, which fully confirms the report that Emperor William reprimanded his son for having openly demonstrated his approval of the attacks on the government's Moroccan policy and the bellicose utterances in the Reichstag Thursday. The despatch to the Cologne Gazette says:

"We believe it to be the right and duty of the heir to the throne to take an interest in politics. He cannot be reproached for forming his opinion, even if it is not consonant with the imperial policy. We further do not desire that the crown prince be prevented from expressing his opinion in a fitting manner and place not, however, in the way chosen in the Reichstag, the effect of which we consider extremely grave.

"It goes without question the episode and the press comments, thereupon, were reported to the emperor and the absence of the crown prince at Friday's sitting was due to the emperor, to whom Thursday's events and the consideration involved therein cannot be agreeable."

The crown prince returns to Danzig this evening.

MANY AGREEMENTS INCLUDED.

Germany Sends Notes to the Reichstag Exchanged at Time of Pact.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The government today communicated to the Reichstag the notes which were exchanged at the time that the Moroccan agreement with France was signed. In the notes, which amplified the agreement, Germany agreed to the establishment of a French protectorate in Morocco and the abolition of her extra territorial rights. France agreed that joint Franco-German companies may execute contracts for public works in Morocco; to the opening of Agadir to international commerce, and that all differences regarding Morocco and the Congo be submitted to arbitration, "since the agreement is intended not only to remove all Franco-German points of contention but also to further mutual good relations."

MOROCCAN CONGO TREATY.

Reichstag Refers Pact With France to Budget Committee.

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—At the close of the debate today the Reichstag referred the Moroccan-Congo treaty with France to the budget committee to whom the government is asked to make further explanation. Resolutions demanding an extension of the Reichstag's rights regarding the conclusion of treaties were referred to the same committee.

A $25,000,000 CARNEGIE FUND.

To Aid "Diffusion of Knowledge" Among People of the Country.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The great Carnegie fund "to promote the advancement and diffusion of knowledge and understanding among the people of the United States" became a fact tonight by the announcement by Andrew Carnegie that he had given $25,000,000, to inaugurate the work, to the Carnegie Corporation of New York, organized here today under a charter granted at Albany last June.

In bestowing this gift upon the corporation formed especially to receive it and apply its income to the purposes indicated. Mr. Carnegie said he intends to leave with the corporate body the work of founding and aiding libraries and educational institutions which he as an individual has carried on for many years.

Mr. Carnegie's latest donation is one of his greatest in money value.

Since his retirement from active leadership in steel manufacturing Mr. Carnegie has devoted himself almost exclusively to philanthropic activities. Although in possession of fairly good health his seventy-seventh birthday is approaching November 25, and he has been known to feel the need of relief from some of the responsibilities with which he has been burdened.

Mr. Carnegie suggested the corporation now organized more than a year ago, and had a petition introduced in the legislature last March for a charter. The bill was passed and signed by Governor Dix June 11. The incorporators named are men who have been identified with Mr. Carnegie's work for several years.

Mr. Pritchett, former head of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, recently became president of the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teachers; Mr. Frew is president of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh. Mr. Woodward is president of the Carnegie Institute at Washington. Mr. Taylor is president of the Hero Fund Commission and Senator Root has been Mr. Carnegie's counsel to some extent for the international peace endowment.

One attempt recently made to enumerate all Mr. Carnegie's gifts required a close set column of the smallest type and was still incomplete. It shows this that his gifts of libraries alone have been made to hundreds of cities—in 40 cities of the Union, to England, Scotland, New Zealand, Tasmania and the West Indies, making practically a girdle of monuments around the world to a man who some 60 years ago began his industrial career as bobbin boy in a cotton factory.

John D. Rockefeller has given away the millions he made in oil with quite as free a hand as the steel king, a recent estimate of his gifts having been placed at about $150,000,000.

Mr. Carnegie's most recent activities have been a gift of $10,000,000 as an international peace endowment, extension of his hero fund to France, Germany and Norway with large gifts, and very recently the gift of $2,500,000 additional to his native city, Dunfermline, Scotland.

BUSINESS STILL PROGRESSING.

Reports to Dun's Review of an Optimistic Tenor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Advices to Dun's Review from leading cities in the United States continue of a general optimistic tenor, the movement of trade, with few exceptions being steadily forward. Retail demand in seasonable merchandise is still enlarging at Boston, colder weather stimulating sales of heavy clothing, underwear, footwear and millinery. Jobbers of dry goods continue to report a satisfactory trade, the volume of business in many departments exceeding that of last year. At first hand cotton goods are irregular but advices from mill centres are, on the whole, favorable. Firmness characterizes the whole situation, while most boot and shoe factories have sufficient orders booked to keep them busy for some time.

Bank clearings this week make the most favorable comparison for a considerable period, the total aggregating $2,753,384,097, an increase as compared with the same week a year ago of 8.8 per cent.

EXCELLENT SCORES.

Aquidneck Rifle and Providence Revolver Clubs Shoot First Match of Return Challenge.

This week the Aquidneck Rifle Club and the Providence Revolver Club shot the first match of the return challenge. The Providence shots, not satisfied to stay beaten, asked for another match, and at the first of three meetings won by the good score of 2351, or an average of 470. The Aquidnecks made 2275 total and an average of 455, which was about as high as any of the teams in the last series.

The second match will be shot next week at Chaseville and may be a different story. The scores:

The next evening the Providence Club held its weekly match, with a small attendance, Brooks with his new gun and telescope put up two fine scores for a total of 490 out of 500. Coggeshall and Almy both made good single scores, while the others shot at their usual gait.

The bull's-eye match was the most interesting in some time. Spooner started with a fine 25 and looked like a winner. Then Brooks made another and Biesel one a little better, but Almy put one almost in the centre and ended the argument. The scores:

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

A large cross, 10 feet in height, of gray marble, from Buffalo, was placed Friday at the cemetery of St. Columba, the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, in memory of the late Mrs. Sarah T. Zabriskie. Rev. G. C. Houghton of the Church of the Transfiguration, New York, an intimate friend of the family, made a brief trip from New York to attend the arrangements and conduct a short service of dedication.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church is planning to hold its annual Christmas sale early in December.

Several new houses are nearing completion in the vicinity of Renfrew Park, beyond the first beach.

Mr. Stewart Ritchie has taken down one of his oldest and smallest hothouses and is building in its place a stable with an entrance on Miantonomi avenue. The building adjoins and opens into one of the large and more recently built houses, which is devoted solely to the raising of carnations. The demand for these flowers seems to always be in excess of the supply.

PORTSMOUTH.

"Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin and Her Books" Considered at Oliphant Club Meeting.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The Oliphant Club met with Mrs. William Hamilton on Gypson lane Thursday afternoon, Mr. Hamilton meeting the cars, that those coming by it might ride. Mrs. E. A. Peckham, the president, presided and Mrs. John R. Coggeshall, the secretary, read the report of the last meeting.

It had been planned to divide the proceeds of a whist, to have been given a fortnight ago at the Holy Cross guild house, between the public libraries of Middletown and Portsmouth but the evening proved stormy and none was held. After considering the matter anew it was decided to drop it and for the members to contribute enough to make a sum equal to the prospective gain by the whist party. Only a small sum is now lacking.

At the meeting of the board of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Clara E. Dennis, director of the Oliphant Club, was present. She gave a brief report to the club at this time.

Quotations were given from Whittier, Alfred De Musset, Joaquin Miller and Hawthorne. Current events were read from Collier's Weekly by Mrs. Hamilton. The subject for the afternoon was "Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin and Her Books," the program being arranged by Mrs. Hamilton. A description of Mrs. Wiggin (Mrs. George C. Riggs) by Katherine Woods was read. One article read drew a parallel between her and Miss Louise M. Alcott, not in their writings but in the circumstances which led them to become authors. Selections, and some entire stories were read from "Rebecca of Sunny Brook Farm," and "Chronicles of Rebecca," among them "A Tragedy in Millinery," "Daughters of Zion," "Choosing A New Minister" and "Riverboro Secrets."

The guild of St. Paul's Church met Friday afternoon with Mrs. May Malone. There was a large attendance and the afternoon was devoted to work on articles for a Christmas sale to be held in December.

Mrs. Alvin Simmons of the West road is so ill as to require a physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivory Low of Glen street are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Brown of Exeter, N. H.

The Whist Club of two tables met with Mrs. Harriet Frances Sanford this week. Mrs. Berton W. Storrs, who took the prize last week, was again the winner and received a pair of black silk stockings.

The public schools have begun to close at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, with only a half-hour at noon.

Rev. Reginald Pearce is guest of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. Sturgis Pearce.

Four large fishing steamers have come into the basin at Stone Bridge to anchor for the winter. They are the Albert Brown, Quickstep, Arizona and John A. Lawrence.

Colonel Reginald Norman is making extensive alterations and improvements to his barns and dairy plant to conform to the regulations of the Newport Board of Health concerning milk.

Mr. William K. Boyd, cattle commissioner, lost his vote this week for the first time since he began to vote. He went to Block Island Monday in pursuit of his duties as commissioner, expecting to return to Portsmouth that afternoon, after having disposed of two diseased cows, but accidents prevented the boat from coming to Newport until Thursday afternoon. Mr. Boyd was not alone in his dilemma, several others being in the same trouble.

MISS MEYER CARRIES LENOX FOR FROTHINGHAM.

The strenuous campaign of Miss Heloise Meyer, a sister of George Von L. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy, carried Lenox, her home town, for Louis A. Frothingham, Republican candidate for governor in Massachusetts. Lenox is a Democratic stronghold, but Miss Meyer, who worked all day driving her automobile in bringing out the voters, carried the town for Frothingham by the vote of 203 to 200. Last year Foss, Democratic candidate, received 159 votes and Draper 121.

Miss Meyer is intensely interested in politics, and is a registered voter herself. "I registered to vote on the school question," said Miss Meyer. "I believe it is the duty of every woman to take an interest in political affairs."

In bringing out the vote Tuesday Miss Meyer visited most of the large estates of Lenox, filling her car with grooms, caretakers and servants who are registered voters in the town.

THE TRENT AFFAIR IN 1861.

International Complication Caused by Seizure of Mason and Slidell.

Release Occasioned Great Disappointment to the South, Which Hoped for British Intervention.

[Writer in Boston Transcript.]

Governor Andrew was re-elected for the first time, November 5, 1861, having a plurality exceeding 34,000. There was a very light vote thrown, only 97,321 in the entire state. Many of the young voters were absent in the army and navy; the opposition had not conducted a very vigorous campaign, and the result of the election appeared so much a foregone conclusion that the contingent of those who thought it not worth while to go to the polls was unusually large. Isaac Davis, the Democratic candidate for governor, polled 31,264, and there were 756 "scattering." Generally speaking, the Republicans had pretty much their own way with regard to the legislature, and party lines had not been drawn on the defense of the Union.

While Boston people were still discussing the election, there was occurring in the Bahama channel, 240 miles from Havana, an event that was to agitate the United States and Great Britain and subject their already strained relations to the most dangerous tension. That event was the seizure of Mason and Slidell, the Confederate envoys to Europe, passengers on board the British mail steamer Trent. They had left Charleston on board the Confederate blockade runner Theodora, October 12, and reached Cardenas, Cuba. From Cardenas they proceeded to Havana, where they embarked, November 7 on board the Trent, bound for England. The United States cruiser San Jacinto, commanded by Captain Charles Wilkes, famous as an explorer, was in West Indian waters watching out against Confederate privateers and Confederate envoys. Captain Wilkes, who knew that Mason and Slidell were in Cuba and were about to take passage on the Trent, left Havana five days before the Trent, in order to cohegal his purpose. In the Bahama channel, shortly before mid-day, November 8, the Trent was sighted by the San Jacinto, and failing to halt when hailed was brought to by a shot across the bows. A boat's crew was sent on board the Trent to seize Mason and Slidell and their secretaries. The captain of the Trent protested, holding that the British flag was flying over his steamer rendered him immune from search or seizure. But he had to yield to superior force; he could do nothing but protest. Mason and Slidell, together with their secretaries, Messrs. Eustis and McFarland, were transferred to the San Jacinto, which then steamed homeward leaving the Trent to carry a dangerous international complication to her home port. The San Jacinto reached Boston November 19, and the state prisoners at Fort Warren received the addition of the two envoys and their attaches.

Wilkes became the hero of the hour to the people of the North. His search of the Trent was everywhere applauded by the crowd. There were, however, in every community a few level-headed persons who saw the dangerous character of his act, who realized what its consequences might be, and who also recognized that it was in startling departure from the old-time insistence of the United States that a neutral flag covers goods and passengers. Fortunately at the head of the cool-headed persons in the United States were Lincoln and Seward. They saw that their first duty was to find a way out of the predicament in which Wilkes had placed the United States. Their position was misunderstood because they regarded it as good policy to let the enthusiasm for Wilkes run its course and give place for reflection before they acted. Charles Sumner was in full harmony with Lincoln and Seward and to a familiar friend in Boston confidentially communicated the information that Mason and Slidell would be given up, as any other course would be in conflict with our own traditions.

Great Britain received the news the Trent brought with a howl of indignation. Army and navy opinion had been against the North from the start. The great commercial houses wanted cheap cotton and the recognition of the Southern Confederacy. The majority of the upper classes were pro Southern in their sympathies. So were many noted Englishmen, of whom clearer insight might be expected—Dickens, for instance, who was constantly belaboring the North. When the tidings came that a British steamer had been stopped and searched on the high seas, and that several of the passengers had been taken from under the protection of the "meteor flag of England," all the elements of hostility to the Union joined in full cry for war or satisfaction, but preferably for war. It was a trying time for John Bright and our other British friends to get a hearing for their declaration that the United States would do the right thing and disavow Captain Wilkes's conduct.

But if most of the British classes and most of the British masses were clamorous for war, Queen Victoria was equally determined to maintain peace with the United States to the last moment. The prince consort, then in the closing weeks of his life, constantly urged her to fight for time. Both were anxious for reparation; both were anxious that the prestige of Great Britain should not be thrown into the scales in favor of the South. The queen tempered the action of the ministry, and the British ultimatum demanding the release of Mason and Slidell and their associates was not delivered at Washington until December 18. Lord Lyons, the British minister to the United States, had a conference with Seward the next day and an amicable adjustment was arranged before they separated.

Seward had seven days in which to compose his official answer to the British demand, and he improved the time to draft a document which would not be read with satisfaction by the British. An argument for the seizure might have been found in British precedents. Indeed the queen's proclamation of neutrality issued at the beginning of the war in plain terms forbade the carrying of "officers" or "despatches" for either party by British vessels. Seward did not resort to hair-splitting. He did not undertake to make a fine point first and then yield. On the contrary he made the surrender of the captured envoys an act to be expected of the historic attitude of the United States. He with sarcastic courtesy congratulated Great Britain on having accepted the contention for which the United States had long stood, that the right of search was not to be exercised by a warship on the high seas on any foreign vessel with the government that of the warship was at peace.

With this Parthian thrust, and with some telling legal lore to the effect that Wilkes's seizure of the Trent was technical "incomplete" by his failure to send her into an American port, where the seizure could have been adjudicated, Seward bowed Great Britain out of the controversy and left chagrin to mingle with its feelings of elation. Mason and Slidell were given up, transferred to a British cruiser and went to England. In Europe they were declined to be carried up the back stairs of statesmen, or to interview subordinates who could be disavowed. They soon learned that the Confederacy had too much slavery about it to be deemed respectable. They were never "recognized" and ultimately became filled with the perfectly correct impression that their room was considered better than their company. They filled big places in contemporary records, and small ones today. Their release occasioned great disappointment to the South, which hoped for British intervention as the result of the seizure, and was sick at heart when Lincoln refused to have two wars on his hands at once.

"DIONIS OF THE WHITE VEIL."

Romance of the Early Days of the Eighteenth Century, by Caroline Brown.

"Dionis of the White Veil," by Caroline Brown, is a tale of the days of the eighteenth century, the scenes being laid in France and in the New World. The author makes vivid the dangers and perils of the wilderness, the atrocity and treachery of the Indians and the ignorance and enthusiasm of the Jesuit fathers. It is a story of the ambition of a priest and of the love of a chevalier for a fair novitiate.

Father Beaubois, a wily Jesuit, has been given spiritual command over the province of Louisiana, from the Gulf to the Great Lakes, a vast domain, including the Illinois country. In his zeal for converting the Indians he plans to establish a mission on the Wabash, a dangerous spot, far from any stockade or trading post. The awful experience which awaits the little party of nuns and priests is a foregone conclusion in the minds of guides and woodsmen, who know too well the perils of such a journey.

In the party of missionaries is a young girl, Dionis, who with the others sails from France to take up the work of Christianizing the Indians. Dionis is only a novice, not having yet taken the vows of the church. She has a happy joyous nature, full of life and spirits. The vocation of a nun does not seem appropriate for her, but the girl has no choice. Orphaned, poor, with no dowry for a husband, but of good family, and therefore unable to marry out of her class, Dionis is forced to take up the convent life. In spite of her dislike for such an existence she is a devout Christian and is enthusiastic over the prospect of helping the Indians. Her faith and devotion are great. It is only when she sees with her own eyes the cruelty and treachery of the savages, is left for dead in the wilderness, is rescued and lives for days in the forest, that she relinquishes all idea of becoming a nun.

The Chevalier Fanchet is a gay and reckless youth, gallant and fickle. From the first moment he sees Dionis he is attracted by her beauty, and is indignant that so lovely a maid should become a nun. As his infatuation grows the more determined is he that she must be saved from such a fate. He plots and schemes, with this end in view, but had it not been for his skill in woodcraft, in the ways of the forest and knowledge of the red men, his plans would have come to naught. As it is, his love triumphs over the church.

PHILADELPHIA HOTEL WAR ON TIPPING.

The manager of one Philadelphia hotel has started a war upon the "tipping" evil, and has cleaned out the New York company which had the checking privilege in the hotel. He has installed his own employes, with instructions that they are not to accept any gratuity under the penalty of being discharged.

The New York company which had the contract employed boys at $4 a week and set them to work with suits containing no pockets, the tips being dropped into a box placed in the cloakroom for that purpose.

PERSONALS.

....Dr. Abbott Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, has been created an officer of the French Legion of Honor.

....The world's record for corn production has been broken by Lester S. White of Collinsville, Conn., who has been awarded prizes aggregating $700 for the best yield of corn to the acre. Farmers from all New England states were competitors. White's yield was 112 bushels of shelled corn to one acre of land. The prizes were offered by a Boston fertilizer company.

....A golfing honeymoon has been planned by Robert S. Simpson, Western open champion, and Miss Fannie E. Steinkopf, after their marriage next Wednesday. Their golfing tour will take them through the South, where they will play together on all prominent courses. The romance which will culminate in the wedding next Wednesday began on the links, where Miss Steinkopf was Simpson's pupil.

....Fernando Jones, who died recently, was Chicago's oldest inhabitant, and for years the most picturesque person among the survivors of the city's pioneer days. Although 91, this vigorous man who as a youth of 15 ventured into the Indian infested region that is now Chicago, did not confess defeat in his struggle against advancing age until a few days ago. Then he yielded to advice of physicians and attendants and went to bed, where he remained for the 24 hours until death released him.

....Calbraith P. Rodgers, the aviator who flew from the Atlantic to the Pacific, making a new world's record, declined at a banquet given in his honor at Pasadena, to accept a $500 cup offered by a representative of William R. Hearst. Rodgers said Mr. Hearst was a "piker" and that more valuable cups were given to the winners of insignificant yacht races. "If he wants to show that he is a true sportsman," said the aviator, "let him renew his offer of $50,000 with the intention that somebody may win the money. His original offer was never made to be won."

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE

THE SHIPS SHOULD BE HERE.

It is very much to be hoped that the Secretary of the Navy will allow the ships to remain in these waters at least one day longer than planned, in order that the officers and many of the men, if they cannot attend the dedicatory exercises of the new Army and Navy branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, so generously given for the enjoyment of the men of the service, may at least have an opportunity to see what a really fine affair the new building is and how amply it is provided with everything for their comfort and use. To have so large a part of our new navy, with its 12,000 officers and men, turn their backs upon Newport on the very day when the new building is thrown open, doesn't seem quite polite.

WORKINGMEN AND STRIKES.

Marked improvement is manifest in the attitude of working people toward strikes. There seems to be less resort to that method of attempting to settle disputes between capital and labor, or if strikes are called they are conducted in a different manner from that which formerly characterized them and are not of such long continuance. This cannot of course be said to be true in all cases of conflict between employers and employes, but it is correct in a large number of cases. If the contrary appears to be the real condition this is due largely to the fact that the big strikes, which involve a large number of workers, those which are accompanied by disorder and continue for a long time, are brought to the notice of the people most prominently, while the smaller labor troubles, which are conducted quietly and soon settled, are heard of but little and so do not remain in the memory as do those which are more spectacular in their nature. The natural result is an impression that strikes are about as numerous and of about the same character as they have been in the past, which is not correct.

A good illustration of the changed attitude of workingmen was shown some months ago, when in a labor trouble in Grand Rapids, Mich., disorder arose among some sympathizers and others not connected even remotely with the matter. An appeal was made to the strikers to help maintain order and they responded so generally that a considerable number were enrolled among the special police engaged to preserve order and prevent serious trouble. This was a unique instance of the new way in which some workingmen at least regard strikes and the position which they ought to assume toward public peace and the protection of property. That such an instance will occur frequently is perhaps doubtful, though there is no reason why such cases should be few and isolated, for that act in Grand Rapids did much toward influencing public opinion in favor of the strikers and helped materially in the final settlement of the difficulty.

If that attitude were taken by all workingmen when labor difficulties arise it would not be long before troubles of that kind would almost disappear and strikes would be practically unknown. Yet it is or ought to be the natural position of the workingmen, for it not only places them definitely and clearly among law-abiding citizens but also makes them the wisest kind of exponents of the cause of the wage earners. The fact that there is trouble between employers and employes over questions of wages, or hours of work, or any other point regarding the details of the task in which both are engaged, is no reason why property should be destroyed or public safety endangered. So there is no question that the position of antagonism to employers which has been taken so generally in the past in cases of labor disputes has worked seriously to the disadvantage of the workingmen, because it has been an attitude which reflected upon the good citizenship of those who assumed it as well as upon their judgment as advocates of the cause of labor.

The position taken by the strikers in Grand Rapids is significant of the new relation which is coming to exist between labor and capital, between employers and employes, not of antagonism but of mutual interest. This change may not be very marked or widespread as yet, but it is discernible and is bound to grow as the wisdom of such an attitude becomes clearer to the workingmen. When they realize fully, as they are beginning to do partially, that violence in strikes hurts them as much or more than it does their employers, and that strikes themselves are as injurious to labor as to capital, there will be more such incidents as that at Grand Rapids, which was so rare as to be exceedingly conspicuous, and more settlements of differences between employers and employes without a resort to strikes, and without violence if strikes appear to be inevitable under the conditions which exist in special cases.

SOCIALIST GAINS.

The Socialists are gaining ground politically here as well as abroad. In some recent municipal elections in Germany they put in office 15 of 16 candidates. In France and England they are less successful, but are making progress. Here they elected a member of Congress and the mayor of Milwaukee last year. This week they chose a member of the legislature each in this state, Massachusetts and New York; a mayor each in New York and Pennsylvania, 11 in Ohio, besides others in Utah, Minnesota and Mississippi, and a number of city officials through the West.

If straws show which way the wind blows, every wind big enough to blow a straw does not give promise of a cyclone. To the Socialists the recent gains in voting strength of course contain the assurance of domination over the country and the world; to those who do not believe in their program and object to see its agitation spread the gains are of little consequence. In each case the opinion rests upon the interest or wish of the person who forms it.

There is unquestionably a great deal of economic discontent. Some of this is expressed in voting the Socialist ticket; some of it is only expressed in words so far, but may at any time make men break from old party lines and try a Socialist ticket. The fact of which all men in politics and all leaders of opinion will do well to take note is that the Republican and Democratic parties are mainly the product of the politics of slavery and secession, issues as dead as Julius Caesar. Most of the voters today were not born until after the Civil war and have no personal recollection even of the era of reconstruction. Consequently they are not greatly moved when the old warhorses neigh in the same key in which they have been neighing for half a century. The political issues of today are largely economic and predominantly social and the parties will need to pay less attention to a glorious past and more to making a comfortable present and future or the Socialist vote will grow until they find it troublesome.

DISSOLVING THE TOBACCO TRUST.

The Commercial and Financial Chronicle thought the moderate attitude of the Attorney General in regard to the Tobacco Trust's plan for dividing itself into several parts, without danger of precipitating competition, accounted for a distinctly improved tone in the stock market. Whatever foundation there might be for that opinion, there is no doubt that the market received with every manifestation of relief and satisfaction the decision of the circuit court that the plan meets the conditions of the decree of the Supreme Court. The modifications for which the Attorney General asked were not made by the court, which took the ground, which should reassure all the friends of the combinations, that the court had no authority to order any of the property of the trust sold, and that it was without jurisdiction to make any considerable change in the plan submitted to it. It might reject it and put the trust into a receivership and have its property sold, or it might accept the plan, and this is what it did.

The effect of the prosecutions upon business has been ridiculously exaggerated by the friends of the trusts and the enemies of the Sherman law, but certainly after this decision it cannot be pretended by anybody that the statute is a menace to business. We at least are rid of the idea that trade is slow because the club of the Sherman law is held over the heads of a few trusts.

As for forcing competition, of course little, or rather nothing, is to be expected from this arrangement. There will be four tobacco companies instead of one, but the interests owning them will be such that competition between them will be highly improbable. It would be possible, but it would be as unlikely as anything which can be imagined. However, the appearance of a monopoly will be abolished and all the rest of the trusts will have a working example of how they can re-organize themselves so that there will be no danger of attacks upon them by the Department of Justice.

Governor Dix of New York and Governor Wilson of New Jersey, Democrats, with Republican legislatures on their hands for next winter, both hope the Republicans will aid them to enact reform legislation. Perhaps Governor Dix has found that the legislation which he obtained from a Democratic Assembly is not what the people want, and hopes to secure more satisfactory laws from the Republicans.

Postmaster General Hitchcock evidently believes thoroughly in the postal savings banks and will extend the system as rapidly as it can be done with safety, until every office in the United States where there is a money order department is a postal depository. He especially desires that what he calls community and neighborhood stores in cities and rural districts may be qualified to receive deposits.

A grand jury in Jersey City has found 14 indictments charging "conspiracy to defraud the county" in connection with the construction of the court house. Commissioners, architects and contractors are included in the number. It is the same old graft story, presumably.

The Rogers boys are to be congratulated on the fine stand they made against a football eleven considerably heavier and acknowledged to be the best school team in Providence and vicinity. The Journal says: "The game was the best played in interscholastic circles this year."

It was 22 degrees below zero in Alberta, Canada, Friday. It is hoped that some of the edge will be taken off the cold wave before it reaches here.

It begins to look as if it were to be a question as to who rules New York city—the constituted authorities or the teamsters and street sweepers.

If Carnegie keeps up this thing long enough he will die poor all right.

The Indian summer is delightful.

MUNICIPAL ACTIVITY IN KANSAS CITY.

As a means of getting practical results, James W. S. Peters, a member of the franchise committee of the National Municipal League, has worked out a successful plan for the municipal legislation and franchise committee of the Commercial Club of Kansas City. Mr. Peters is chairman of the committee, and his "efficiency suggestions" are intended to make the committee and the Commercial Club "a vital force for good."

To accomplish the purpose, the committee is divided into sub-committees, each having definite work to keep watch over. The duties are to see that existing legislation is duly enforced, and to discover and obtain supplemental legislation of benefit to the city. "This distribution of work," says Mr. Peters, "gives the Commercial Club members and the public opportunity to know with whom to advise in enforcing or obtaining municipal action in any question of municipal endeavor."

One of the sub-committees handles problems of finance, revenue and public affairs generally. Its work embraces saloon licenses, municipal courts, corrupt election practices, factory sites, taxation, civil service, municipal research work and methods of civic awakening. Another sub-committee deals with water works, fire protection, draining and river protection. A third is responsible for moves relating to public safety, and its business includes looking after building laws, child labor, cold storage and food inspection, factory inspection, treatment of the insane, immigrants, juvenile courts, milk inspection, public health, street cleaning and repairs, traffic regulation, vacant lot gardening and the smoke nuisance. A fourth looks after the esthetic side of the city development and a fifth is inquiring into the practical working of the municipal form of government in various cities.

One thing about Mr. Peters's plan is that it gets results, for the Commercial Club is one of the strongest agencies for good in any city.

LOWER PRICES FOR RAILROAD TIES.

The lumbermen of eastern Connecticut and Rhode Island and southern Massachusetts are aroused over the lower prices offered by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company. When the road's inspectors began recently looking over the season's cut of ties the lumbermen found that not only had the price of seven-inch ties dropped from 72 to 62 cents each, but the inspection of six-inch ties was far more rigid than ever before. The lumbermen claim that, as most lots are situated, they cannot produce ties at a profit under these conditions if the timber was given to them.

KING'S CLOCK TICKS IN NEW YORK HOTEL.

A clock that once kept time for King James I. of England is now chiming the hours in the lobby of the Hotel Martinique, New York. Built for the royal owner in 1691, it was purchased by the late Mrs. Elizabeth Underhill Coles of New York from the Mittendorf collection in St. Petersburg 30 years ago, and since her death in 1891, has been the subject of repeated offers by wealthy collectors of antiques in New York. Mr. Charles L. Taylor, proprietor of the Martinique, recently bought it for a large sum.

The clock is of solid mahogany and rosewood. It is 12 feet tall and three feet square at the base. The main part rests upon the bent shoulders of Father Time and beneath this is the inscription "Time rules all things." The door from which the four clock weights are manipulated is hidden beneath a figure of St. Matthew, and on the reverse side is the inscription "Built by T. H. Crawford, clock maker to His Majesty, King James I." Below this is the royal coat of arms and beneath it the name "Sir Ralph Winwood," with the words "Fear God in Time."

Mayor Fletcher of Providence Favors Biennial Elections for That City.

Convict Labor System of the State Condemned—"Poppoosquash" the Correct Spelling.

Immediately after assuming office for his fourth term, Mayor Henry Fletcher of Providence, will advocate the changing of the city charter to provide for the holding of the municipal elections in that city biennially instead of annually, as at present. In urging the change, he believes it would be more in accord with ideals for a more stable form of government. He will seek to have the state and municipal elections take place at the same time, pointing out that this will tend to economy. Some time ago a resolution was submitted to the board of aldermen by Alderman John Kelso, directing the city solicitor to apply to the General Assembly for the charter change, but as it was believed at that time that the legislature would not look with favor upon the amending of the charter of the city the matter was held in abeyance. The approval of the voters of the biennial election for the state, registered at Tuesday's election, has paved the way for successful municipal action, and the city solicitor will therefore be sent to the legislature immediately after the convening of the Assembly of 1912 to secure the amendment of the city's charter to provide for elections once in two years, as in the state.

Several indictments against prison labor conditions in Rhode Island, particularly the convict labor system, are contained in the report just submitted to the Rhode Island Woman's Club by its outlook committee. The convict labor system at Howard is condemned on the ground that it is neither educational for the prisoner nor profitable for the state. In the prison manufacture of shirts, the report maintains, it places the private corporation for which the work is done at an unfair advantage over the free labor-employing manufacturers of shirts, whose work is principally done by women. In this way, it is declared, it works for a consequent reduction in wages paid to the women shirt makers. The report calls attention to the fact that, while Rhode Island receives but 25 cents a day for each laborer, the state of Wisconsin receives 85 cents a day from the same company. The report calls for the abolition of the convict labor system and the establishment of educational trades, in which the prisoners may find work after the expiration of their terms. It is pointed out that the opportunity for men shirt makers is a negligible quantity.

"Poppoosquash," not "Pappoosesquaw," is to be the proper way of spelling the name of the western peninsula of the town of Bristol hereafter according to a special committee appointed at the financial town meeting last spring to rectify the inaccuracies of spelling which have prevailed for the past half century, and the town council has been asked to request the New Haven Railroad Company to observe the proper method of spelling the word and to change the large sign at the flag station there. The committee, of which ex-Governor Brown was chairman, has secured various papers of legal nature, some being early deeds of the Indians to the first white inhabitants, while other deeds of lands were of later date, from 100 to 250 years ago. The committee concludes from inspection of the documents that there never was any justification in calling or spelling the word "Pappoosesquaw," as has been the general style for the past 25 years. It also found that there were other forms of spelling it, such as "Papasquash," "Poppysquash," "Popsquash," and other of similar sound in the early days, but the name the committee settled upon is the one used most in the history of the town in official ways, and should be adhered to and the word "Pappoosesquaw" discarded. The grant deeds justify the form of spelling of the word settled upon. The committee will meet again in order to correct every form of misspelling the word.

A smallpox outbreak in the Pawtuxet Valley, which threatens to assume serious proportions, has resulted in the calling of special sessions of the Coventry and Warwick town councils to consider a plan for controlling the threatened epidemic. According to Dr. Charles E. Chagnon the extent of the outbreak is not known, but it is believed that there are more than 20 cases at present. He advocated an inspection of the schools and factories in an effort to discover suspects, saying that he believed many persons who had not taken medical treatment or called a physician were afflicted. At least three positive cases are known to exist in Arctic.

Mayor Fletcher of Providence had a plurality of 255 over Alderman Joseph H. Gainer in the contest for the mayoralty when the board of canvassers and registration completed its work Friday afternoon. This was a net gain of one during the day for the former.

As a result of the agitation of the past few weeks, a number of the prominent residents of Edgewood have formed the Edgewood Improvement Association. A constitution was adopted and temporary officers named. It was voted to hold an open mass meeting at the Edgewood Casino, and at that time the organization will be formally perfected.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity: Rain late tonight or Sunday morning, followed by clearing and colder; warmer tonight, increasing southerly to westerly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

There is considerable cloudy, unsettled weather this morning with rain in the northern Lake region and upper Mississippi valley and snow in the Missouri valley. Rain occurred yesterday and last night in the northeastern portion of the country, but it is generally fair this morning in the Middle Atlantic and New England states. Clear weather prevails extensively only in the extreme Southwest. A ridge of moderately high pressure extends along the Atlantic slope. The disturbance that was in the Lake region Friday has passed northeastward, but the depression that was in northern Nevada has moved rapidly eastward and now consists of a trough of depression extending from Lake Superior southwestward to southern Arizona. No important changes in temperature have occurred in Eastern districts and it is near the seasonal average along the Atlantic slope. In the Mississippi valley there has been a rise to considerably above the normal, while in the Northwest the intensely cold weather continues unabated. The lowest in the Northwest is 16 below zero at Havre, Montana. In New York at 8 a. m. it was 50, Washington 42, St. Louis 70, Chicago 64, St. Paul 26, Des Moines 42, Wichita, Kas., 62, Denver 4, San Francisco 44 and Portland, Oregon, 44.

SAILORS ASHORE AGAIN.

Liberty Parties Stopped for Twenty-Four Hours, But Resumed Today.

Admiral's Inspection Set for Wednesday—Pay Director Reviewing the Accounts.

Newport for about 24 hours had the big fleet in port, but none of the men from the ships on shore, and for a while it looked as though there might not be any more liberty parties while the vessels remained here. A squadron signal was made Friday morning, notifying the various ships that all liberty would be suspended, and it was understood Friday that this condition of affairs would continue during the stay of the vessels here.

The causes which led Admiral Osterhaus to issue the order were varied, according to report. In the first place, the continuance of the use of Commercial wharf as a landing place was denied by the agent of the wharf and this left things in a bad way. The wharf has not been an agreeable place for landing, but it seemed necessary to use it under the circumstances. It is also reported that the habit of sailors appropriating boats along shore to convey them to their ships after hours, and then setting the boats adrift had reached the admiral's ears, through the anger of fishermen who lost their craft. In addition it is said that a report reached the admiral in regard to the conduct of some of the shore patrol, in consequence of which the squadron commander is said to have decided that if things could not go along more as they should go he would keep all hands where things would go right. Naturally the stopping of liberty throughout the fleet was a great disappointment to the men, but they realize that they suffer for the doings of a few.

The landing difficulty was taken in hand by Mayor Boyle as soon as he heard of it, and he has designated the docks at Long wharf, Sullivan's wharf and the Ann Street and Elm Street piers as places at the disposal of the boats from the fleet. The piers are not intended for general use as they are in the summer time, and it need inconvenience few if the ship boats take full possession of them.

Landing places having been provided and there having been some plain talk in the fleet as to what is expected when on liberty, the men were sent ashore again this afternoon and in larger numbers than before, there being 2,400 who were granted leave. All the ships except the Vermont contributed their quota toward this number.

A patrol came with the big party this afternoon and did not confine itself to the strict centre of the city, but were seen this afternoon working well toward the suburbs, as if they were to cover all sections where the men were likely to go. Many of the sailors of course went beyond the limits of the city an dthe transportation companies did a thriving business taking them to other places.

There will be an admiral's inspection of the squadron next Wednesday and all the ships are being groomed for the occasion. This is made more difficult because they are coaling and it takes a day to clean ship after that operation. Many of the vessels are not actually in need of coal and could do considerable cruising with their present supply, but the Cyclops is here with a cargo and must be discharged, so the ships must take what they can, and of course become about as dirty with a few hundred tons taken on board as if it were a thousand or two.

Another inspection is going on while the ships are in port, the fleet pay director calling upon the various craft and going over the pay officer's accounts in each.

Sunday Captain Fechteler of the South Carolina will be relieved of the command of that ship by Captain Snowden. This ship has a trophy which she picked up off Block Island. When her anchor was hauled in a large boulder was brought up with it, so firmly wedged in the anchor that both were taken on deck and hawsers were broken in trying to separate them. It is considered a very unusual happening.

When the fleet sailed last week one of the Connecticut's steam launches was left at the Torpedo Station with a repair gang to put it in order. The launch was damaged in a collision in the North river at the time of the big show and there was no place on board ship to make repairs while at practice at sea.

The ships in the harbor are short of many officers, who are at present on detached detail incident to the big review, where it was necessary to draw upon the Atlantic fleet for the reserve craft which appeared in the parade at New York. These officers, or at least many of them, have not yet returned to their ships.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

The following officers of the Patriotic Sons of America were installed at the meeting of the organization Friday evening:

President—Louis L. King.
Past President—R. Hutton.
Vice President—R. Peckham.
Financial Secretary—Frank W. King.

Treasurer—Thomas Blacklock, Jr.
Master at Arms—George Stack.

GENERAL MUSTER AT THE STATION.

This being the first Saturday after the first Monday in the month, there was general muster at the Training Station this morning and the entire company was at quarters. Besides being a monthly function demanded by naval regulations, it was the first opportunity for Commander Drayton, the new commandant, to see his men mustered. Because of this men who would otherwise have been off duty this morning did not come ashore until noon.

TO LOCATE A SCHOONER WRECK.

Schooner Gazelle, the United States engineer survey boat, has gone to Handkerchief shoals to locate schooner Louis V. Chapel's, sunk on the shoals to the way of navigation. There is no trouble in locating the schooner now, for her masts stand out, but if the masts were carried away, as they are likely to be at any time by a passing tow, it would be a difficult matter to locate the hull if bearings were not taken. Ultimately the wreck will probably be removed to clear the channel.

NEW LADDER DREDGE COMING.

It is expected that the big ladder dredge Denver will arrive soon from Boston, as she was ready to start Wednesday. The Denver was formerly a lake steamer and was fitted for her present work by the installation of an endless chain of buckets each with a capacity of about one yard, which work about in the middle of the ship and discharge through a chute into the scow. When she comes the sister dredge now at work here will go to Providence.

"THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR."

[New York Herald.]

General Francis Vinton Greene's book on "The Revolutionary War" is written from a new standpoint, that of the military observer. Himself a descendant of one of the ablest of the Revolutionary generals, a graduate of West Point, and with a professional record that includes both Europe and America, no one could be better fitted than the author for the task.

Early in the book General Greene summarizes the opposing forces very clearly. The British had good troops, led by men of wide experience and personal courage, but of only average ability, animated by a sense of allegiance to the king and contempt for their foes. Opposed to them was an irregular and constantly changing force, without training or discipline, without money or credit, animated by a fiery passion for liberty, a conviction of the righteousness of their cause, commanded by a man of lofty character "and military instincts of the highest order. What one side lacked the other possessed. The odds were about even and the contest was not unequal. It took eight long years to decide it."

General Greene's estimate of Washington's military ability is interesting. His political services have been so great that it has long been the fashion to speak disparagingly of the great Virginian's military achievements. This the author considers a mistake and he ranks Washington as a soldier with Napoleon and Julius Caesar.

Part II is devoted to "The Military Policy of the United States," in which the author treats of the prejudice against a standing army in this country; of the possibility which confronts us of war with one or another great nation, and of the gradual improvement in military matters, which shows that the country is profiting by its experience. There is also a well deserved tribute to the medical department of the army for its great sanitary achievements in Cuba and the Isthmus of Panama. The book is illustrated with more than 60 beautiful and correct maps.

FUNERAL OF MICHAEL SHEEHAN.

The funeral of Michael F. Sheehan, who died at the Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge, was held this morning from the residence of his brother, Florence F. Sheehan, on North Baptist street, to St. Joseph's Church, where a mass of requiem was said by Rev. W. A. Doran. The church was well filled with relatives and friends, the deceased being related to several families in this city. He was a son of the late Captain Dan Sheehan, and has two brothers here—John H., foreman at Stewart's stables and James J. Sheehan. The bearers were Archie Kirby, John Sullivan, Daniel Sheehan and Patrick Smith, the interment being in St. Columba's cemetery.

A FEW MORE NOMINATION PAPERS.

Additional nomination papers are now to be expected at the city clerk's office about every day. Papers have been filed by Dr. Darrah for School Committee, by E. T. Bosworth, 2d for re-nomination, and by Fred A. Bloom, 10½ Spring street, both for the Council from the Third ward. Papers have been taken out for Fred Langelier, Thomas F. Martin, Bruce Butterton and M. D. Sullivan, all now of the Fourth ward.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Hugh L. Taylor, who came home to vote, will leave tonight for Washington.

—The weekly sewing circle of the U. T. Club was held at the home of Miss Mab Smith.

—Rev. George Vernon Dickey, rector of St. George's Church, has returned from Swansea, Mass.

—Gray Bros. fishing sloop Halcyon and Mr. Bailey's launch Beatrice are hauled out for the winter at the Newport shipyard.

—Work has been resumed on the old torpedo boat Stiletto and it looks as though she might finally be taken to Boston, where she is now owned.

—A heavy fog fell on Newport about 2 o'clock this afternoon, but before 3 the sun had come out and it felt even more spring-like than before.

—This is real Indian summer weather. It is a trifle early, but people have that spring feeling which goes with the Indian summer, and all the atmospheric conditions are right.

—Will Harry is suffering from a strained tendon in the lower part of the abdomen, sustained in a basketball game at the Young Men's Christian Association Thursday evening. He had been in the play but 10 minutes when he received the injury.

—Friday evening Company Y, Women's Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association, gave a shower party at the home of Mrs. W. H. Chapin in honor of Miss Carrie Hummell, one of its members. The gathering was a sociable one.

—Bids were opened Friday at the Engineer office for building a deck house on schooner Gazelle. Two were received from the Newport shipyard for $540 and from Hathaway & Sons of New Bedford for $975. The work will be done by the Newport shipyard.

—The Newport & Providence company is putting in a new trolley wire and switch on the Broadway-Farewell Street curve, where the wire is subjected to excessive wear. The entire overhead work in the locality is also being gone over and put in repair for the winter.

—This morning, at the Torpedo Station, Ivor Beresen, father of Officer Boreson, and a civilian employe, was injured while at work about a hoister. The ambulance was sent to the Station and the injured man was taken to the hospital. He suffered a fracture of the leg and it is said his back was injured.

—Percy Rose, formerly half back and captain of the Rogers High school football team, came from New London, where he is working, to Newport, Friday, arriving a little before the time scheduled for the game to begin, only to find that it was in Providence instead of Newport. It was then too late to make connections.

—The professional fishermen are doing something today. Captain Ben Maxfield had about 1,000 pounds of cod, a barrel of butterfish and some mackerel this morning and C. B. Anderson also had some mackerel among his fish. The mackerel catchers, however, are preparing to go to Hyannis, beam trawling, but the catches so close in shore may cause them to go out again.

—Superintendent Toole of the Newport & Providence railway had a call from the Training Station this morning announcing that there would be another football game there Sunday afternoon by teams from the Station and battleship North Dakota, and that as there would be a large attendance it was desired that extra cars be run. It was stated that there were 2,500 at last week's game. The extra cars will be provided.

NEW SEWAGE PUMPS WORKING.

Builder's Test Shows Them to be Running Very Successfully.

Public Exhibit to be Held Next Week, Preparatory to Making Connections.

The pumps at the new sewage station on Water Works road and Eustis avenue were started this afternoon at 1 o'clock for a builder's trial, and judging by the way they performed it was a successful test. After running the pumps a short time they were stopped, and then a test was made with the pump running, and in 29 minutes the big tank had been lowered 10½ inches.

The new pumping station is a handsome place and with its neat surrounding hedge and its white brick and asbestos shingled roof is an ornament to the locality, and while rather small amid the waste of swamp land it looks neat.

Above on the ground floor a 7½ horse-power electric motor runs 850 revolution a minute, below in the pump room a pump forces the water up through the six-inch discharge pipe, 4,036 feet long, and to a height of 38 feet to the discharge at the main sewer on Prairie avenue. When the door of the pump house is closed even the whir of the motor is not heard.

The pumps have a guaranteed capacity of 100 gallons a minute and the man who installed them thinks they can do better than that at the speed the motors run. These are so arranged that they start automatically when the contents of the tank rise to a certain point and are shut off when they fall to a certain level. These heights may be adjusted to suit the conditions found to exist. It is believed that at the start the pumps will be set to start when the contents of the tank are four feet above the bottom and to stop when they are only two feet above the bottom. The second pump can be set to start when the first stops from any cause or when the contents of the tank gain on the single pump. With both going the capacity will be at least 200 gallons a minute and may be nearer.

There is no fuss about the thing. All that seems to be required is to look at the plant once in awhile, to see that the machinery is properly lubricated and the electric connections are intact. Either pump is supposed to be able to care for all the sewage which can be put into the tank in some years, the plant being double the possible demands on it for years to come unless the locality grows much faster than is now anticipated.

The tank is 37 feet in diameter and 10 feet deep to the intake. The pump house is to the south of the tank. The pumps are at the bottom of the cellar and at the level of the intake, and therefore do not have to draw, but only to pump up. They are clear of the sewage matter and can easily be reached to make any repairs which are necessary. There are cut-off valves and check valves, to hold the sewage back at both the intake and outlet. There is also room for an additional pump if one should be found necessary.

If the tests prove that the pumping station is in good working order it is planned to have a public exhibition of the new plant for such of the citizens as wish to see how it works, Wednesday afternoon from 1 o'clock, when the man who installed the pumps, Street Commissioner Sullivan, and his assistant, Mr. Julius Burdick, will explain things.

Also, if the plant works right Street Commissioner Sullivan will give official notice by advertisement in the papers next week, to the people who have so long waited for this event, that they can connect with the sewers, as the plant is ready to go ahead and care for the newly sewered section.

NEW ENGLAND BUILDING OPERATIONS.

Building operations in New England are maintained this year considerably in advance of former records, the figures for the 10 months being $12,000,000 ahead of the corresponding period last year. According to statistics compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company the contracts awarded from January to November 8 aggregated $152,291,000. In the corresponding period of 1910 they were $140,795,000; in 1909, $141,168,600; in 1908, $92,177,000; in 1907, $116,073,000; in 1906, $107,422,000, and in 1905, $84,392,000.

"KAISERINE" LAUNCHED.

Battleship Intended to Help Maintain Peace Desired by Germany.

KIEL, Germany, Nov. 11.—The new battleship which replaces the old Hagen was launched today in the presence of Emperor William and Empress Augusta Victoria and christened "Kaiserine," by Princess Victoria Louise.

Grand Admiral Von Koester made the speech of the day. The new warship, he said, was intended to help maintain an honorable peace, which was desired by the German nation, but should war come, the "Kaiserine" would be found like Her Majesty's sons, who were always ready joyfully to offer their lives for the fatherland.

BURGLAR MAKES HIS ESCAPE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Attacking an armed burglar with no better weapon than his hands, William Newman, a negro butler, saved the contents of the silver cabinet in the home of Rear Admiral F. M. Ramsay, U. S. N. on New Hampshire avenue, early this morning. Newman was stabbed in the arm and slashed across the face by the burglar's knife, but he fought gamely and the intruder finally made off without the valuables he was in the act of bagging when interrupted. The negro's shouts for help aroused Admiral Ramsay's daughter, who leaped from bed and rushed to the scene just as the robber fled.

CORPORATION COUNSEL'S VIEWS.

Believe New York Can Not Prevent Women Smoking in Public Places.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—New York has not the power to prevent women from smoking in public places, is the belief of Corporation Counsel Watson, who made public today his reply to the board of aldermen's request for his opinion. Mr. Watson says that he believes the courts would be inclined to hold such a prohibition as an unreasonable discrimination on the ground of sex. The corporation counsel's opinion probably decides the fate on anti-smoking ordinance, applying to women only now in the hands of an aldermanic committee.

RENGO BELT CORSETS.

Among the latest models shown in our corset section are two excellent numbers of Rengo Belt models.

Of the many corsets designed to give style and poise to the figure, none are more successful than these.

Practically all corsets, if properly fitted, are comfortable, but not every model produces style.

Rengo Belt Corsets are boned throughout with double watch spring steels which holds the form firmly though flexibly and moulds the figure into graceful, stylish lines without discomfort.

Plenty of Scoring in the Game With Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11.—The Carlisle Indians and the Harvard team, composed entirely of second-string men, brought the first period to an end on even terms, each team scoring three points on field goals. The Indians, however, showed the greater offensive strength. Thorp kicked Carlisle's goal from placement Hollister made Harvard's goal.

Another goal from placement by Thorp early in the second period, from the 37-yard line, gave the Indians a lead. Shortly after Reynolds of Harvard scored a touchdown on a 10-yard run, Hollister kicking the goal. Stowe of Harvard was removed from the game for slugging.

In the third period Thorpe went over for a touchdown for Carlisle. Thorpe kicked the goal.

PROCEEDS TO KOBE.

The Minnesota, Stranded Off Shikoku Island, Floated.

TOKIO, Nov. 11.—Wireless messages from steamer Minnesota of the Great Northern Steamship Company today reported that the vessel had stranded in the Kurusima passage, off Shikoku island, but later floated and proceeded to Kobe.

The Minnesota is a ship of 13,324 tons and one of the finest of the Pacific liners. She is 622 feet long and was built at New London in 1904. She sailed from Seattle September 18 on her regular trip to Yokohama, Manila and Hong Kong, leaving the latter city about November 1, on her return trip. The point where she was aground is about 400 miles southwest of Yokohama.

TO SETTLE THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

University of Maine and Bowdoin Eleven Meet at Brunswick.

BRUNSWICK, Maine, Nov. 11.—University of Maine and Bowdoin met here today to settle the state football championship. Ideal weather greeted the players and the followers of both teams were out in big numbers to witness the contest. Both teams are about evenly matched, although Maine leads in weight. Whichever eleven captures the game will become the champions of the state and being undefeated Bowdoin, in case of a tie result today, will hold the honors for the season.

THEIR THIRTY-SECOND CONTEST.

Phillips Exeter and Phillips Andover, Inter-Scholastic Rivals Meet.

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 11.—The oldest inter-scholastic football rivals in the East—Phillips Exeter and Phillips Andover—will have their thirty second struggle today, with Plympton Field the scene of this year's battle. Exeter was a slight favorite before the game, but as the New Hampshire school was the favorite before every one of the last six games, all of which Andover won, good football, judges refused to look upon the game today in anything but an impartial light.

The Exeter season has been three games longer than at Andover and each has suffered a single defeat. Many old graduates, now football stars on college gridirons, came here to see the game today.

NEW MAINE BOARD APPOINTED.

Expert to Make an Official Examination of Wrecked Battleship in Havana Harbor.

The second board of experts to make an official examination of the wreck of battleship Maine, the first having been the board which went to Havana shortly after the explosion, will leave Washington today, expecting to arrive in Cuba early next week. At that time the enclosure within the cofferdam will be pumped dry and the wreck will be laid bare for scrutiny. The board has general orders to report on all the facts disclosed by the uncovering of the wreck.

Rear Admiral Charles E. Vreeland, aid for inspections of the Navy Department, is the president of the board. The other members are R. M. Watt, chief constructor of the navy; Colonel William L. Black, president of the army board in charge of the raising of the wreck; Commander Joseph Strauss, powder expert of the navy, who has been in charge of the proving ground at Indian Head and is now assistant to the aid for material, and Commanader Charles Hughes, of the naval board of inspection. The personnel of the board indicates that the investigation will be a painstaking one, and the condition of the wreck as seen in the light of expert opinion will be the basis for the report.

The work preliminary to the removal of the hull of the vessel has been completed by the army engineers and the skeleton of the ship can be laid bare. After it has been examined the work of removing it will begin, and all traces of the wreck visible above the waters of Havana harbor will be obliterated.

Sloan, who is to be her sister's maid of honor; Mrs. Nelson B. Burr, Mrs. Francis P. Garvan, Miss Grace Remsen Henry and Miss Marion Dennison, who are to be among the attendants.

MR. FORCE'S BROKEN THIGH.

Mr. William H. Force, father of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, is in the Roosevelt Hospital, New York, where he is being treated for a fracture of his right thigh. His leg was broken at Greenport, Long Island, Thursday afternoon, when he stepped out of his automobile. He was taken to the Eastern Long Island Hospital at Greenport, and Friday was taken to New York in an automobile and transferred to the Roosevelt Hospital, where it was said that his condition was not serious.

When seen at her home, Mrs. Force said her husband had been troubled with his right thigh for many years and had been forced to use a crutch. His leg gave way when he attempted to step from his automobile.

gaining for Rogers and made many tackles. Of the forwards, Ward was in the lead. He broke up Technical's interference and tackled his man, time and again. Each of the other Rogers boys played a fine game, and the line, although outweighed 20 pounds on the average, held at all times.

The Technical ends were fast and were always under the punts. Rogers, however, was Technical's best man. He did all their kicking, and the most ground gaining. Fraser also did well, his tackling being especially good. The line-up and summary:

LIKE FINDING MONEY

Hall & Lyon Co. Offers Popular Medicine at Half-Price.

Hall & Lyon Co., the popular druggists, are making an offer that is just like finding money for they are selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount they agree to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means, for it is only recently through the solicitation of Hall & Lyon Co. that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. They urged the proprietors to allow them to sell it at this reduced price for a little while agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified their good judgment for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, Hall & Lyon Co. will return your money.

HEARS HIS PLAN PRAISED,

Former Senator Aldrich Attends Western Economic Society.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Former United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich chairman of the National Monetary commission attending a meeting of the Western Economic Society today, heard his plan for a currency reform variously approved, praised and criticised. Mr. Aldrich took no part in the discussion. He is scheduled to deliver an address at the final meeting of the Society tonight.

F. D. Hurlbut, vice president of the Merchants Loan & Trust Co., of Chicago, Professor F. W. Scott of the University of Wisconsin, Professor O. M. Sprague, Harvard University, Professor David Kinley of the University of Illinois, and Former Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri, were among the speakers.

OFF FOR IMPERIAL DURBAR.

King George and Queen Mary Leave on the Medina for India.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—King George and Queen Mary left London this morning for Portsmouth to board the new liner Medina, which will carry them to India for the imperial durbar to be held in Delhi next month. As this was Their Majesties last appearance in the capital for nearly three months, their departure was made with much ceremony. Accompanied by the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, and escorted by the Imperial Horse Guards, they drove in an open carriage over a round-about way to Victoria station.

The streets were lined with people who gave the royal ones an enthusiastic send off. There was a great gathering at the station, those who had come to say farewell, including Queen Mother Alexandria, all the other members of royalty, the ministers, officials of the India office and diplomats, among the latter being the American ambassador, Mr. Reid, with whom was Mrs. Reid.

ACCOMPANIED BY CRUISERS.

The Medina Leaves Portsmouth, Eng., With Their Majesties for India.

PORTSMOUTH, England, Nov. 11.—The Medina, carrying King George and Queen Mary to India, left the harbor at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to the accompaniment of a royal salute by the guns of the warships and forts. The ships were manned, the bands played "God Save the King", and enormous crowds on shore cheered as the royal vessel passed out.

Along the sea front, off Spithead, 11 Dreadnoughts, composing the first battleship squadron and attendant cruisers, awaited the Medina and led her out to sea. The admiralty yacht Enchantress, with the lords of the admiralty, immediately followed the Medina, and the four first class cruisers, the Cochrane, Argyll, Denfense and Natal, which in command of Sir Colin Keppel, will convey Their Majesties to the Far East completed the pageant. The fleet is due to arrive at Calcutta during the first week of December and two days later the party will proceed by train to Delhi, which they should reach December 7. There will be elaborate ceremonies at Calcutta, and the Durbar proper, at which His Majesty will formally assume the title of King-Emperor, will be held at Delhi, December 12.

VICTIM SHOWS IMPROVEMENT.

Fall River Woman, Shot Friday Night, in a Dangerous Condition.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Delia Tessier, who was shot here last night by Henry Meyer, was still on the dangerous list at the City Hospital this morning, though her condition showed some improvement. She has two wounds, one in the back of the neck and the other on the right side. The physicians think the second bullet probably entered the liver.

In addition to shooting Mrs. Tessier, Maher shot to death Joseph Morrissett, a teamster, 21 years old, and then took his own life. Jealousy and a mind crazed by liquor are believed to have caused the tragedy.

That the shooting was deliberate was shown by a note left by Maher saying that his act would warn women not to encourage two men at the same time. Maher was 40 years old and a weaver. The woman is 26, and has a husband and three children.

MEMORIAL TO SENATOR FRYE.

Androscoggin Anti-Tuberculosis Association to Establish Sanatorium.

LEWISTON, Maine, Nov. 11.—The Androscoggin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, a charitable organization in this part of Maine, announces today plans to found the first memorial to the late Senator William P. Frye, proposed in this country. They will start at once subscriptions to a fund for establishing and permanently maintaining a "William P. Frye Sanatorium" for the treatment of tubercular patients. Maine has now no provision for advanced cases and needs increased accommodations for incipient cases, where patients may go at a minimum expense.

Mr. Frank D. Dingley, brother of the late Congressman Dingley, is president of the association and the finance committee in charge of raising this fund includes 15 prominent citizens. Mrs. Helen Frye White of Lewiston, and Mrs. Alice Frye Briggs, of Washington, D. C., the two daughters of the late Senator from Maine, have gratefully endorsed the movement.

HELD IN $10,000.

Former Boston Bond Broker Charged With Larceny.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Charged with the larceny of $10,000 from Mrs. Susan M. Donnell of Amesury, Richard L. Freeman, a former Congress Street bond broker, was held in $10,000 for trial when arraigned in the superior court in this city today. Freeman, who fled from this city last spring, was arrested in Toronto last week and brought back to this city Thursday night.

THE NEGOTIATIONS TAKE BETTER TURN.

the utmost consideration When the gates were opened yesterday morning the people thronged toward the country, each carrying his belongings and driven by the Imperialists. Soon afterward the carnage began. Since the night of November 8, when the first attack was made by the revolutionists, the Tartar general had endeavored to terrorize the inhabitants by wholesale executions Thos whose queues had been cut off were beheaded by the dozen.

When the order for a general slaughter was given the whole native city was invaded by the Manchu soldiers, who ruthlessly massacred men, women and children. The aged, the young and babes in arms were shown no mercy.

Thousands of Chinese poured from the gates until at noon it was estimated that fully 70,000 persons had escaped. Before nightfall 20,000 more, representing every class, the merchants, the gentry and coolies, had gone away. The correspondent saw several women executed and their children stabbed and trampled under foot.

The order appeared to be that any one wearing anything white, which suggested the white badge worn by the reformers, must be killed forthwith A white pocket handkerchief marked the person for death. White shoes, which are worn by the Chinese as a sign of mourning, were a signal for the execution of the wearer.

The horror of the massacre cannot be described. An attempt to estimate the number of innocent people and non-combatants slain would be futile. The correspondents worked throughout the day within the outer walls of the city, eight miles from the telegraph station, with which they communicated and to which they were permitted access through the courtesy of the railroad officials.

Fires sprang up everywhere and a large section of the native city was burned.

REVOLUTION BLOODLESS.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—A despatch from Canton, China, was received today by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions stating: "Situation favorable. Revolution bloodless."

PROVIDENCE WOMAN THERE.

New England Missionaries at Nankin Flee to Shanghai for Safety.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—New England missionaries at Nankin have been forced to flee to Shanghai. At the office of the American Advent Mission Society, the missionary organization of the Advent Christian denomination, a cablegram was received today from Rev. G. Howard Malone, the society's missionary at Nankin. The message which was filed at Nankin this morning reads:

"Nankin ladies Shanghai." This was interpreted as meaning that the women attached to the Nankin missions had fled to Shanghai for safety. These women missionaries are Mrs. Malone and her sister, Miss Bertha Walker, both former residents of Cambridge; Miss Alice Hazard, Providence, R. I., Miss Nellie E. Dow, Northwood Narrows, N. H., and Miss Hannah Stocks, Bristol, Conn.

Rev. Mr. Malone, head of the Nankin mission station, is a native of Nova Scotia, and has been stationed at Nankin for the past 15 years. The Adventists have maintained a prosperous mission at Nankin, consisting of a home for the missionaries, a splendid church, a boys' school and a girls' orphanage, each accommodating 100 children.

ATTRIBUTED TO REVOLUTION.

Chinese Students at Pennsylvania Fail to Receive Remittances.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Nine Chinese government students at the University of Pennsylvania, who found themselves without funds through the failure to receive their regular remittances, have been given a helping hand by the trustees of the institution. The failure to receive funds from home is attributed to the revolution and the students say they are willing to wait, if the reformers ultimately win. The trustees have granted the students an extension of time in which to pay their tuition fees and dormitory expenses.

MISSIONARIES IN CHILI SAFE.

Word Sent to Presbyterian Board by Walter R. Lowrie.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions received the following message today from Pao Ting Su, China:

"Our Chinese missionaries in Chili (province) are safe. The women and children of Pao Ting Su and Shunte Fu are in Tien Tsin, except Doctors Mackay and Lewis. Inform their families.

"Walter R. Lowrie."

Mr. Lowrie is chairman of the board's Chin. Missionary Council.

PADDED THE PAY ROLLS.

New Haven Railroad Time Clerk and Other Employes Indicted.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Twenty indictments were returned by the Suffolk County grand jury today against Edward V. Atcherly, a time clerk of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company at Taunton, and nine engineers and firemen of the same company. It is alleged that Atcherly, by means of padded pay rolls, obtained nearly $10,000 in the last three years and divided that sum with the other defendants.

The others indicted are Charles B. Blair, John H. Murray, Arthur A. Hommell, Albert W. Blair, Joseph N. Cross, Charles J.Brogn, Charles F. Westgate, William A. Sears and William McGill.

TAKEN BY STRONG ARMED THIEF.

Cash Register and Contents Stolen from Hotel Royal, Boston.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—A strong-armed burglar is supposed to be going around Boston this morning burdened by some 80 pounds of steel in the form of a cash register containing about $50 in money. William McIsaacs, the night manager at the Hotel Royal, stepped out of the office for a few minutes this morning and returned to discover the loss of the cash register and the money it contained. Apparently the thief thought he had not time to open and rifle the register.

Cardinal Designate O'Connell Sails for Consistory in Rome.

BOSTON, Nov. 11.—Cardinal-Designate William H. O'Connell sailed today for Rome to attend the consistory, at which he and Cardinals Designate Farley and Falconio will be elevated November 27. The cardinal suite consisted of Rev. Dr. F. J. Supple, Rev. Joseph F. Coppinger, private chaplain, Rt. Rev. Dr. M. J. Splaine, Rev. Edward J. Moriarty and Right Rev. Jeremiah E. Millerick. The party sailed on steamer Canopic at 2:30, going by way of Naples, where a landing is expected to be made two weeks from today.

The ceremony of conferring the berotta is expected to take place the same day in the Chapel of the American College in Rome, of which Cardinal O'Connell was a rector. Two days later, either in the Hall of the Consistory or in St. Peter's, the ceremony of conferring the red hat will take place.

Many Catholic delegations were at the dock to bid farewell to the new cardinal. Before sailing the cardinal designate gave this parting message to the people of the diocese: "I cannot express in words my gratitude for the kindness of all. God will return it, I cannot. I beg the prayers of all for my voyage. Au revoir."

Closing—The market closed heavy. Observers declared the market acted well in the face of the enormous profit-taking sales invited by the sustained rise in prices. There was evidence of manipulation, but the breadth of the trading testified to a marked revival of public interest. Stocks of secondary importance vied at times with the recognized leaders in point of activity and strength. Revived strength was shown in all quarters for a time in the second hour. Before the end the desire to close out contracts over Sunday brought a large amount of stocks on the market and there were recessions from the highest of 1 to 1½ and many stocks fell below yesterday's closing figures. United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific and several others showed losses of a point. Money on call nominal. No loans. Time loans steady, 60 days and 90 days 3½ @ 3¾ per cent; six months 3½ @ 3¾.

Prime mercantile paper 4¼ @ 4¾. Sterling exchange steady at $483.80 for 60 days and at $4.87 for demand. Commercial bills $4.83¾. Bar silver 56¾. Mexican dollars 45½. Government bonds steady. WOULD NOT TAKE A NEW LEASE.

Easton's Beach Company Not Desirous of Renewing on the Same or Any Other Terms.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir: It may seem superfluous to decline to do a thing before one is asked to, but lest there should be some misunderstanding of the attitude of the Easton's Beach Company, in the matter, I wish to say with reference to the petition of the Newport Improvement Association to the mayor and Board of Aldermen, that the lease of the beach be renewed to the Easton's Beach Company for another year, that that company would not consider for an instant the taking of the beach for another year, either on the same terms or any other terms.

The feeling expressed by the Board of Aldermen in regard to the past management of the beach by this company would seem to make it highly improbable that they would for a moment consider such a course, but the action of the Newport Improvement Association in making such a petition (taken without consulting us) might be construed as indicating that we were desirous of having a renewal of the lease. It is to correct any such possible idea that I write.

Arthur B. Emmons
Pres. Easton's Beach Co.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 9, 1911.

"THE BEAUTY SPOT."

"The Beauty Spot," is said to raise the standard for musical comedy productions in these modern days, when quantity and not quality seems to be the aim of both manager and playwright. With Frank Deshon in the leading role, the book by Joseph Herbert and the music by Reginald DeKoven, "The Beauty Spot" seems to have hit the popular fancy and is an exemplification of this new upward trend. It is the sort of production to please all classes of theatre-goers, appealing to the artistic as well as the humorous sense, with song and melody skipping lightly to and fro the while.

CONNECTICUT BASKET BALL TEAM UNBEATEN.

The defeat of the North Dakota basket ball team at the hands of the Young Men's Christian Association Thursday evening has given added interest to the game with the Connecticut's team. During review week in New York all the battleship teams conducted a tournament at the Brooklyn Naval Young Men's Christian Association, playing four games each day. The Connecticut quintet was the only one to go through the week without a single defeat. Since their arrival in Newport they have been using the Training Station gymnasium for practice.

CANNOT ADVERTISE THE NAVY.

Sailors Taking Part in Boxing Must Not Use the Names of Ships—The Robideau-Gallant Bout.

According to reports heard Friday night hereafter if any of the sailors of the fleet take part in a boxing bout ashore they cannot use the name of the ship to which they belong; that is, the promoters of the boxing cannot advertise the ship or the navy in an effort to boom attendance. There is no objection to the men taking part, as individuals, if they wish, but the commercial end cannot be made too prominent in the way of advertising in the navy.

The bouts Friday night suffered because of the fact that no liberty parties were allowed ashore, but that was not because of the bout. It was fair to suppose, with a dozen ships in, that there would be a large attendance of sailors, especially as several of the contestants were from the navy. The admiral, however, had given orders for no liberty early in the day, with no thought of the boxing in his mind, so the men could not come ashore and orders for tickets were cancelled.

Young Sam Robideau, of the Connecticut, who had the better of his 10-round bout with Johnnie Gallant, broke a bone in his right hand in the third round but pluckily kept going to the end of the 10 rounds. It was agreed, while no decision was given, that Robideau had the better of the boxing, which was quite clever and satisfying to those who like to see a good exhibition and not roughhouse work.

ENTERTAINING THE NAVAL OFFICERS.

Colonel Otto L. Hein, U. S. A. (retired and Mrs. Hein gave a dinner Friday evening at the Corson cottage in honor of their son, Midshipman Herbert Hein, who is attached to battleship Michigan. The guests included Miss Roberta Willard, Miss Annie Powel, Miss Margarita Siegfried, Miss Beryl Kane and Miss Ida Guerin, and Midshipmen Bradley, Edwards, Leeds, Elliott and Kilduff of the Michigan.

This evening Mrs. Joseph H. Willard will give a dinner at her cottage on Catherine street for the younger officers of the Connecticut and Michigan, and the party later will go to the Training Station, to attend the dance to be given by the officers of the Station to those on the battleships now in the harbor.

THE GERRY TABLET.

Erected at Army and Navy Building in Honor of the Commodore's Father and Uncle.

The Commodore Gerry tablet at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association building was placed Friday on the wall at the head of the stairs to the third floor. It is of neat design, in bronze, with a realistic rope border, a cross and the navy coat of arms for its embellishment, in addition to the inscription. The latter reads:

Eternal Rest Grant Them O Lord and Let Light Perpetual Shine Upon Them.

Thomas Russell Gerry
U. S. Navy, 1814-1833
Died Oct. 6, 1845.

James Thompson Gerry
U. S. Navy 1815-1854
Commander U. S. Sloop of War Albany
Foundered at Sea Sept. 1854.

Father and Uncle of Elbridge T. Gerry.

Commodore Gerry visited the building Friday afternoon and inspected the tablet, having it changed from the place where first located alongside the elevator.

A place is being prepared at the entrance to the gymnasium at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association for the Major Gibbs memorial tablet, which after having arrived has been sent back for a different finish.

The pianos have arrived at Barney's and will be delivered next week, when the building is ready to receive them. They are both Jewetts, but made especially for this structure and are in specially designed cases—light oak, wax-finished, and a fine piece of work. They are somewhat of the mission design and intended to be in keeping with the finish of the building. One of the instruments is an extra size, being intended for the auditorium, where it has been desired to make an upright fill the place of a grand, and hence it has been necessary to give it more than the usual volume of tone. The other instrument is for the general reception hall on the first floor.

SAUNDERS FERRYBOATS SOLD.

Gypsy to be Broken Up, West Side to Run at Stone Bridge and J. A. Saunders Bought by Estate.

The three boats of the Saunders ferry which have been laid up at the Stone Bridge near Tiverton for some time were sold at auction Thursday afternoon by W. L. Andrews. The sale proceeded very slowly, the bidding being at times dull and about three hours were consumed in the sale. While it was reported that the three boats were sold to junk men to be broken up it is learned that only one was really sold to a junk dealer, William J. Dunn of Fall River buying the old Gypsy for $173 for that purpose.

Ferryboat West Side was bought by Walter Loring & Co. of this city for $625. It is reported that the West Side will be fitted up and made ready to run on the Stone Bridge ferry, which is expected to go into commission when the repair work on the bridge is again on, as it must be some time. The big ferryboat J. A. Saunders was knocked down for $1,850 and it is understood that Ernest L. Caswell, who is settling the Saunders estate, bought her in.

DR. SEERLEY'S TALKS.

Dr. F. N. Seerley, who is to lecture at the Colonial Theatre Sunday afternoon, spoke before an audience of 35 or 40, made up of parents, teachers and others interested in boys, Friday evening at the Association, dealing with some of the problems and temptations peculiar to boyhood. He spoke with unusual authority, for besides being a physician he has devoted himself especially to dealing with boys and young men in his study of the subject. After the talk there was a period for discussion, which became general and interesting.

A party of boys from the Association, accompanied by Dr. F. N. Seerley and General Secretary Chapin, left this noon for a hike to the life saving station, where Dr. Seerley was to give a short talk to the party after luncheon. It was intended to be back in town about 5 o'clock.

One of the most important subjects in "The American Home" series will be the one to be discussed by Dr. Seerley. In a city like Newport it is desirable that young men and fathers should understand the situation and know facts which a specialist of Dr. Seerley's experience is in position to give. More than 600 men attended the first meeting last week, and were so enthusiastic that another full house is expected.

HER EIGHTY-THIRD BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Ezra J. Barker quietly celebrated her eighty-third birthday Friday by receiving from 3 until 6 o'clock. Large numbers of postal cards and other remembrances from out of town came by mail, among the most valued being those from her son, Colonel A. A. Barker, and granddaughter, Myrtalie, who are in Cuba, and her granddaughters, Lydia and Alva, of New York. Several other cities were represented by cards and those from Middletown, her old-time home, were numerous. A number of pretty gifts gave her much pleasure.

A TOUCHDOWN IN THE DARK.

Rogers Loses to Technical High in the Last Few Minutes of Play.

Game Evenly Contested Throughout, With No Special Advantage to Either Side.

The Rogers High School football team lost its claim to the championship of Rhode Island Friday, being defeated by Technical High of Providence, 5-0. The game was even throughout, neither side excelling greatly. When the touchdown was scored it was so dark that the men of the two teams could not distinguish each other. Only two plays followed the score, before time was called.

The Rogers team left in the rain at noon, but before Providence was reached the sun was shining. About 250 Newporters were on the field and their cheering squad, under the leadership of "Cap." Curtis, made more noise than the whole Technical contingent.

The game was late in starting, and by the time the third period ended it was quite dark. In the fourth Technical advanced to the Rogers 10-yard line and a try for goal failed. Rogers then put the ball in scrimmage on their 25-yard line, and a forward pass went to a Technical player. Because of the dim light neither team could see who had the ball, and the runner, without interference, was within one foot of the line before he was downed by DeLangie. Play was called two minutes after the touchdown, and the referee said after the game that he should have called it at the end of the third period.

Play could not go on for more than two minutes at a time without some one being injured. This was not due to roughness, however. The injuries were not serious except in the case of E. Jemail of the Rogers team. In the first period, while tackling, he injured his neck in quite the same manner as his brother did at East Greenwich.

McDermott started the game by kicking off to DeLangie who made 25 yards. Ebbs punted, and after holding Technical for downs he punted again. Neither team could make much on ground gaining, so resort was had to kicking. The period ended with the ball in Rogers' possession on Technical's 45-yard line.

In the second Rogers seemed to have the better of the game, while Technical had it in the third. In the fourth it was so dark that it was not plain which team did the better. The second was mostly punting, as each side was able to break up the other's line-playing. Freeman's punting was well done, beating the Technical kicker 15 yards nearly every time.

The third period was when the action began. Frazer kicked to Jemail, who advanced 15 yards. Jemail punted to Turner and then, after Rogers of Technical had made first down on a trick play, Rogers took the ball on an intercepted forward pass. Jemail made 11 around the end. Jemail kicked and the ball was brought back because of a penalty. Jemail again went 10 yards, and then kicked again. By line plays Technical made first down, and Boyle went 13 yards on a forward pass Rogers, on a trick play which completely fooled the Newporters, went to within 7 yards of Newport's line before he was downed. It looked like a touchdown for Technical, but on the next play Knox brought down Turner on an end run, without a gain, and the whistle blew.

Technical, with but 7 yards to go, tried the Rogers' line, but no gain was made. Then Rogers, the Technical kicker, tried a field goal, which failed by a wide margin. The ball went in play on the 26-yard line. Newport tried a forward pass, and a Technical man took it. Technical then rushed to the 8-yard line. Rogers held for one down, but two more put the ball over. The try for goal was successful, Newport kicked off, and Turney, after playing hide-and-seek in the dark with the ball, went 30 yards. After one play, the referee called the game on account of darkness.

M. Jemail was the star of the game. He did most of the ground

ONE OF GREAT 'CELLISTS.

Paul Kefer, With the Saslavsky Quartet, Has Always Lived in a Musical Atmosphere.

Paul Kefer, the solo violoncellist of the New York Symphony Orchestra, who is to be the violoncellist of the Saslavsky Quartet at the Philharmonic Society's concert, comes of a musical family and since his birth has known no atmosphere which was not musical. His father gave him the greater part of his early training, his mother was a pianist of ability, and his uncle is conductor of one of the large Belgium Symphony orchestras. Mr. Kefer studied in Paris at The Conservatoire, where he made the acquaintance of Mr. Barrere, the flutist of the orchestra, and from that time they have been thrown much together. Not only did they study together, but they served together in the French army, returning at the same time to their chosen vocations and playing with the Lamoureux and Colonne orchestras in Paris. In the latter Mr. Kefer was first 'cellist for a time, and also played under Felix Weingartner. He has been heard in all the musical centers in France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Belgium and Switzerland, before coming to New York eight years ago. He has been first 'cellist of the New York Symphony Orchestra under Walter Damrosch for three years, and his many solo appearances have established him as one of the world's greatest 'cellists.
